

Bailiwick founder: 'We're not closing'

By Windy City Media Group

Chicago, IL - Responding to rumors that Bailiwick Repertory, 1229 W. Belmont, was closing and that he had left town, founder and artistic director David Zak said that neither was true.

"I've heard those rumors," Zak told Windy City Times. "There are changes down the road, and I'll be sure to let you know," he said, adding, "we are looking forward to an exciting Pride series in September and October."

The repertory is currently running Tell Me on a Sunday, with such productions as Chiaroscuro (A Study in Shadow) scheduled to run soon.

Written by: Andrew Davis

Article provided in partnership with Windy City Media Group.